

Vivaldi

Vivaldi wrote a lot of music as well as playing the violin and being a priest. I would like you to learn a little about him.

He wrote a series of pieces of music called The Four Seasons which you might have heard about. I would like you to listen to Spring from this. You can google this piece, listen to it on Spotify or there is a link below.

You can listen to all of this or just the first part, or spread it out over the week!

Whilst you listen think about what the music makes you think of – write your ideas down if you want to.

Think about the dynamics – which means loud and soft

Think about the tempo – which means the speed.

I would like you to create a piece of art inspired by Spring. This could be outside on a patio area if you have one using chalks, on paper using any art materials you have at home. Your piece of art could be something you can see in the garden or something inspired by Vivaldi's piece of music. I would love to see your finished pieces of work please and you can post them on your portfolio in dojo.

If, like me, you are not very good at drawing you could research Vivaldi and make a factfile to include things like:

- Where and when he was born and died
- Where he lived
- What he did in his life
- Music he wrote
- Include pictures and make your work look attractive with a nice spring type border.
