On Monday 7th February, pupils across the school took part in our Virtual Inter-House 'First News Quiz'. The questions focussed upon news and events around the world in line with our 'Places: Take Notice' Wellbeing Week theme, whilst encompassing the use of technology to bring the whole school community together to highlight the positive benefits of the Internet. This has been a focal point of classroom discussions to mark International Safe Internet Day on Tuesday 8th February.

Organised into House teams, pupils were not only trying to ensure they got the answers correct, they also sought to respond as quickly to secure as many points for their respective houses as they can!

This proved to be lots of fun and highlight just how knowledgeable our pupils are about the world around them.

FirstNews NEWS TO GET YOUNG PEOPLE TALKING

The overall results were as follows:

- 1st Shine 18,462pts 100 House Pts
- 2nd Packham 17,819pts 75 House Pts
- 3rd Thunberg 16,720pts 50 House Pts
- 4th Attenborough 14,860pts 25 House Pts

Congratulations to Shine for winning our first whole school virtual quiz, we hope to host many more in the coming weeks and months!

An enormous thanks must go to Mrs Bodnar, our ICT Curriculum Lead, for organising this event. You can see how these points have affected overall House standings over the page!

Thank you to everyone who attended this week's Virtual Parent Consultation Meetings. Do get in touch with your child's class teacher if you missed this as I know they are happy to catch up with you at a mutually convenient time.

The school continues to make rapid progress in its efforts to serve its pupils and the wider community and, as always, your views are very much appreciated. To help us evaluate what you the parents believe is working well and what needs further attention, we are asking all parents to share their views on Ofsted's ParentView website.

You will be required to create your own login (if you haven't logged in before), but rest assured responses are anonymous. Having said this, I would positively encourage you to speak with us if you have any concerns.

To share your views, following the link below, click on 'Give your views', login and then search for our school. There are lots of Suttons across the country, so its best to search 'Sutton Ely' in the address field as this should bring us up at the top of the list!

PUPILS DEVELOP SKILLS TO STAY SAFE ONLINE IN SAFER INTERNET WEEK 2022

This week, we have been discussing what an amazing tool the internet is and how it can enhance our lives so long as we use it appropriately and take necessary steps to safeguard ourselves and others. Here are just a few of the things pupils have

Lemur class have been taking notice by writing 'tweets' about the books we are reading in class.

Tigers have Taken notice

This morning Tigers have practiced our Maths skills and English skills on the internet using Wordle and Nerdlegame. We really had to use some problem solving!!

We also noticed that the spellings on Wordle looked different because it is an American site. It is always best to double check with a dictionary.

Is this a scam?

This email was sent to my spam folder, can you see any clues which show it is not an official email?

I was playing Roblox last night and advert popped up. It said that I could win a free iPad if I gave them my home address and bank details. Should I do this?

Wolves say - there are no adverts on Roblox. If this advert came up on a different game. It will be a scam and they will be stealing your details and money.

Rhinos- You shouldn't give away your personal details and if you were going to win something they wouldn't do.

Salamanders- No. If you give them your details without knowing who they are, they could use them to harm you.

I love practicing my timetables on TTRS! However, I am not very good and I don't earn many coins. My Friend said they would use my password to log in and earn me some more coins!

Is this right? Should I be sharing my password? Even if it is for a good reason?

Salamanders - It is important not to share passwords, especially if they are for something important like a bank account.

Wolves say - it could be a virus or a scam. You shouldn't download it - the link could hack into your account. It could be fake. It could hack into your cookies (cookie log). - ANONYMOUS

A photo was taken of me and edited then posted in the classwork... Should photos be taken without consent? Should you be editing photos to make someone embarrassed?

Rhinos- You shouldn't edit other people's photos unless you have permission

Salamanders - you need the person's permission because a photo is a part of their identity.

HOUSE POINT TOTALS

Having led for much of the academic year, Attenborough House have been overtaken by Shine House following their fantastic victory in the Virtual Inter-House earlier this week. Packham House's second place finish in the quiz has meant they have moved into third, leapfrogging Thunberg House!

We are only half way through the year and the Houses are still very close in their overall House Point totals!

It is very difficult to predict who will be lifting our new Rev. Mary Hancock House Trophy at the end of the year; rest assured there will be lots more opportunities for pupils to accrue points! Points for parents attending Consultation meetings will be added the first week back after half-term.
